Celebrating

30
Years

She makes a difference

Joan McArthur-Blair, a curriculum consultant/instructor in Program Development and Staff Training, can't mask her enthusiasm for the Canada India Institutional Cooperation Project she is involved in. The project is a joint effort between the Canadian and Indian governments to improve polytechnic education in Southern India. Since 1992 she has worked periodically in India, preparing Indian teachers to instruct in the classroom.

Having just returned to analyze the success of the project, she is ecstatic about the changes she sees. Institutions which had no autonomy when she first began, do; upgrading for teachers which was limited is now available and teamwork is everywhere.

A more personal change Joan recalls is that of a young, female, teacher she worked with three years ago. At the time the Muslim woman marvelled at the freedom of travelling without a male relative. Today that same woman travels unescorted throughout Southern India, promoting the place of young women in technical education. For Joan it is difficult not to see women's role in India as oppressed. However, she has come to realize that often what a Canadian woman might view as oppression, is in Indian culture considered to be respectful treatment of women.

One of the biggest challenges Joan faces as a trainer is fitting in what she sees as good training into another culture. Fundamental assumptions we take for granted in Canada don't always work in another country. For example, in India a teacher of teachers is the absolute authority, and is not treated as a peer as in Canada. This makes for a much more formal environment. Teachers in India don't video tape or run movie projectors. They would require a technician to do that kind of work.

She has had to learn to adapt and be respectful of their culture.

The fondest memory Joan has of her time in India is looking outside her office window at the female construction workers who bring their babies to work with them. The mothers place their babies in long, colourful scarves and tie them onto branches. When the wind blows the babies sway back and forth.

The Canada India Institutional Cooperation Project has been extended for another two years. Joan is hopeful she will be spending 18 consecutive months stationed in India. Not a bad life for someone who "just came to VCC to work for six weeks and ended up staying."

TIPS 'n TRICKS

Fast text selecting in WordPerfect for Windows 5.2 and 6.x

I've seen several methods for quickly selecting text, but this one is my all-time favourite. Place the insertion point where the selection should begin, hold down the (Shift) key and then click once with the mouse where the selection should end. All the text in between is instantly selected. This method is especially useful for selecting a large portion of text or for selecting text that doesn't consist of an exact word, sentence or paragraph.

Once text is selected, you can change the selection by holding down the (Shift) key again and clicking in the new place where the selection should end. You can also hold down (Shift) and use the arrow keys to change the selection or click and drag with the mouse.

If you need to select across several pages, after placing the insertion point in the first position, you can use the (Page Down) and (Page Up) keys or the vertical scroll bar to locate the page where the selection should end, then hold (Shift) and click.

Committee receives Ministry grant

The Personal Safety Questionnaire that you see around campus is the work of the VCC Safer Campus Standing Committee. The Committee was formed in late 1994 to oversee a $55,000 grant from the Ministry of Skills, Training and Labour. The funds will be used for the following:

1. Preparing a safety questionnaire to gather information on perception of personal safety and a safety audit to gather information on actual safety concerns. These results will be analysed and recommendations given;
2. Preparing and implementing an education program addressing personal safety concerns;

3. Reviewing/revising current college policies which address safety, i.e.: Human Rights, Student Standards of Conduct and any existing safety procedures.

Janice Hansen, Human Rights Coordinator and Steve Traviss, Safety, Security and Parking Coordinator are VCC's Institutional Representatives on the Ministry's Provincial Safer Campuses Committee, which meets periodically to coordinate efforts with other B.C. college and university representatives. They also serve as co-chairs of the VCC Standing Committee. Linda Martin, VP Educational Support Services represents VCC on the Ministry's Advisory Group, which oversees the entire initiative.

We will keep you posted on the further, outstanding work of this committee.

WPSE - Women in Post-Secondary Education

Come, join us in the Okanagan for our annual conference and AGM June 9 to 11, 1995. Naramata is fifteen km from Penticton on the shores of Lake Okanagan. It's a great location (complete with hot tub!) for a conference that will renew and refresh you! The theme is Social Action/Liaison/Outreach and includes topics such as Harassment Backlash, Safer Campuses, Barriers to First Nation's Women, Women in Leadership, Gender Communication Styles and more. There will be opportunity to network, make new and renew old connections and time to relax, chat and enjoy each other.

If you are interested in getting involved on the board of WPSE there will be positions coming open starting June 1995. If you want to get more involved with WPSE but do not have a lot of time for ongoing involvement, you can attend the WPSE Planning Retreat and share your ideas and vision for the organization. We need your energy to move forward. The Planning retreat will be held June 8 and 9, 1995 at Naramata just before the conference.
