6) THIRD CAMPUS FOR V.C.C. (Reprint from Memo of October 27, 1972)

It is my pleasure to advise you that the Minister of Education has given Vancouver City College Council authority to enter into discussions with a view to obtaining property for a third campus for Vancouver City College.

The Council will now have a committee work on selecting a site and arriving at a firm price for the property. This is the first of many steps which will be required before the third campus is in operation, however, it is the first firm step in that direction.

8) SCHOOL PROBLEMS

Once upon a time the animals decided they must do something to meet the problems of a new world, so they organized a school. They adopted the activity curriculum consisting of running, climbing, swimming and flying and, to make it easier to administer, all the animals took all the subjects.

The duck was excellent in swimming--better in fact than his instructor--and made passing grades in flying, but he was very poor in running. Since he was slow in running he had to stay after school and also drop swimming to practice running. This was kept up until his web feet were badly worn and he was only average in swimming. The rabbit started at the top of the class in running but had a nervous breakdown because of so much overwork trying to compete in the swimming area.

The squirrel was excellent in climbing until he developed frustration in the flying class where his teacher made him start from the ground up instead of from the tree-top down.

The eagle was a problem child and was disciplined severely. In the climbing class he beat all the others to the top of the tree but insisted on using his own way to get there.

At the end of the year an abnormal eel that could swim exceedingly well and also run, climb and fly a little had the highest average and was valedictorian.

The prairie dogs stayed out of school and fought the tax levy because the administration would not add digging and burrowing to the curriculum. They apprenticed their children to a badger and later joined the ground hogs and gophers to start a successful private school.
