3) "KEY TO THE KINGDOM"

The key to the Board Room is now available at the Switchboard. The Board Room must, whenever possible, be booked in advance. The reservation book is on Mary Griffith's desk. The key will only be issued after it is signed for at the Switchboard. We ask that you return the key to the Switchboard immediately after you open the Board Room.

We hope this procedure will eliminate the problem caused by "unknown guests" who leave the Board Room in a mess. M.G.

Nic Morelli, Department Head, English Language Training, has been invited by the Community College Development Centre, College of Education, University of Washington to be their keynote speaker for their Conference on Compensatory/Remedial Education and ESL/Bilingual Education, to be held near Seattle on February 7 and 8, 1977.

If you do not have a class at 9:30 a.m. on Friday mornings, tune in to C.B.C. Radio (690 on the A.M. dial) and listen to Bob Bowman speaking on "This Week in Canadian History". 13) WHITE COLLAR CRIME

We are told by the experts that white collar crime is on the increase. One form is the use of company mailing services for personal mail.

Recently personal mail, four pieces from one instructor, were intercepted only after two had passed through the stamping machine.

Such attempts to defraud the College will not be tolerated.

The outbasket at the mail counter is to be used only for official college mail.

Private mail, even though correctly stamped, may not be delivered to the postal authorities for forwarding.

15) FROM THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

A reminder to all faculty and students of the Music Recital Friday, December 3, at 8:00 p.m. in the Music Building. The entire recital is featuring one of our senior students, Ross Curran, on both the flute and saxophone. Admission is $2.00 for adults, 75¢ for students. Proceeds will go toward a fund to enable the music students to have lockable storage space for valuable instruments. Your support is valued very much.

A further reminder to all faculty and students of the upcoming Christmas series of recitals being presented by the students of the V.C.C. Department of Music. There will be a recital every evening next week (Dec. 6 - 10) in the Music Building, beginning at 8:00 p.m. Details of the concerts will be found in your letter boxes. Please post the notice in your classroom for your students to see. The music students have been preparing for a long time and we would like to see a good response to their efforts.

There will be no noon-hour recital on Tuesday, December 7, due to the Christmas recital week. Noon-hour recitals will resume in January. Thanks to all those who came to hear the students perform during the Fall Term.

All faculty and students are reminded of the upcoming presentation of Handel's "Messiah", being presented in the Queen Elizabeth Theatre, by the Vancouver Bach Choir. Details are posted on the notice board in the main office. V.C.C. faculty member Jon Washburn is the Chorusmaster of the Bach Choir.
