2) TO ALL FACULTY, INCLUDING ALL ENGLISH MAJORS:

We want to tap your veins and pick your brains - and those of your students.

We are in the process of collecting articles and stories (serious or humorous) from faculty and students with a view to testing and then publishing them in a multi-cultural reader.

It will be called NEW CANADIANS, EH?, and will contain at least four different points of view - that of the Canadian student and non-student, and that of the New Canadian student and non-student.

The setting of the story can be Vancouver, Montreal, Toronto, or outside the country (Blaine, Bangkok) provided that some attention is paid to cultural interaction. The subject matter of the material, however, is entirely open, although it should be timeless, or at least, recurrent in nature.

Submissions should be four double-spaced, type-written pages (5 - 6 pages with dialogue) in length. The level of difficulty should be at the Grade 7 - 12 reading level.

If you or your students have something to contribute (and I am sure you both have), and if contributions are accepted and published, please note that we plan that royalties (!) will be prorated (as long as YOU write in your own time).

Please get in touch with either Margaret Young, Joe Dion, Herbert Salzmann, or myself, in the ELT Department if you require further information or if you wish to discuss your contribution.

The deadline for contributions is June 15. More than one contribution is welcome.

9) BRUCE ANDISON MEMORIAL FUND

We are pleased to announce that two King Edward students, Stanley Snow & Mrs. Rose Maley have been selected to receive the Bruce Andison Memorial Award.

The Award will be presented on Tuesday, May 10 at noon in the King Edward Board Room. Mr. & Mrs. Andison, school officials and photographers have been invited to the luncheon presentation to Mrs. Maley and Mr. Snow.

The Bruce Andison Memorial was raised in honor of Bruce Andison, a student, who lost his life in a plane crash in the north.

This young man had expressed concern for the condition of young native people and this fund was dedicated to provide encouragement for native students in further education.

The parents of Bruce Andison, Mr. & Mrs. A. L. Andison live in West Vancouver and Mr. Andison operates a business in Vancouver. They have a continuing interest in this fund.

Congratulations and very best wishes to Stan Snow & Mrs. Maley!

10) FREE CONCERTS IN CLASS

Two students from V.C.C.'s Dept. of Music, Ross Curran, flute, and Rick Stafford, guitar, have received a student initiated grant from the Dept. of Labour, through the College, to provide free concerts for those of the community that may otherwise not hear such music. These students are available to perform free concerts anywhere in the lower mainland for the months of May and June. They are presenting concerts from the classical flute and guitar repertoire with appropriate discussions and would be interested in working with any K.E.C. classes, especially the English Language Training classes to perform known songs for these students. For more information contact Ross Curran at 876-6861 or Rick Stafford at 731-2054.

12) COLLEGE FOUNDATIONS FACULTY

Thanks to everybody - faculty, staff, and students - for their efforts at registration. I do believe it was one of the smoothest we've had. Despite our reduced course offerings, our registration is up - not a lot, but up. For some this will mean rather large classes. I'm sure you know this extra effort is appreciated, especially by students who will be able to complete their programs during the summer.

I also hope everyone is bearing up under the confusion with rooms. Things should smooth out by the end of the week. A final, final, final room schedule will be out shortly.

Have a good term.

13) LIFE MEMBERSHIP

At the Annual Meeting of the British Columbia Association of Continuing Education Administrators held in Vernon on April 28th, Mr. Monasch, a founding member, the first secretary and, until last year a committee member of that association, was awarded a Life Membership. A standing ovation was given to Mr. Monasch at the presentation.
