3) INSIGHTS FROM AN ESSAY BY A K.E.C. STUDENT

"The natural resource of my country or of any country in the world is the men who live there. This is, of course, the more important resource.

However, if men are the more important resource, women are, of course, the more useful resource. They provide, by their own presence, the things which are the pleasure of life.

Of course, if you agree with me, you'll come to the conclusion that such a wonderful resource must be carefully protected.

Everybody will agree that we have to protect such a nice resource; but women should be protected against what? I don't see anything or any reason which could threaten them; and of course, if such a thing would happen, all the women are perfectly able to take care of themselves.

Everybody will agree with me that the best natural resources of any country are being actually perfectly protected. We don't need to elaborate further on this subject."

4) TELEPHONES

The installation of our new switchboard is now complete! Hopefully, all systems will be "GO" from now on. A few minor problems will be cleared up shortly.

Please remember to inform the switchboard operators when you place a long distance call.

The new phone number for the Music Department is: 873-2461 or 873-2462. Their new location is 225 West 8th.

Basic Ed may be reached on Local 16. Their new location is the same as above (225 West 8th.)

If you have any problems or questions concerning telephone calls, connections, etc., please call the office manager or her assistant. (D. Moutter, L. 29 or M. Griffith, L. 11).

FACULTY OF EDUCATION

April 26, 1979

RECEIVED APR 30 1979

Dear Colleague:

I'm writing to inform you about opportunities for graduate study in adult education at the University of British Columbia. I've enclosed several copies of our flyer which can be posted or distributed to interested faculty members, and a copy of our detailed brochure for reference.

The Department of Adult Education has recently joined with two other Departments in a Division of Educational Administration, Adult, and Higher Education. This will increase our capability of meeting the needs of college and institute personnel for appropriate programs of graduate study.

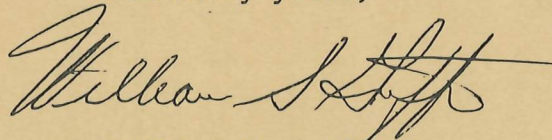

We offer two master's degree programs (M.A. and M.Ed.) and one doctoral degree program (Ed.D.) as well as a Diploma in Adult Education. The Department has eight full-time faculty members and about 140 graduate students.

It might be of interest to your staff to know that it is now feasible to obtain a Master's degree through coursework taken in summer sessions. The doctoral program has a two-year residency requirement which can be met in various ways.

We will be offering three courses in summer session 1979, which runs from July 3 to August 10 - Introduction to Adult Education, Program Planning and Evaluation, and Educational Gerontology. Other departments in the Division will be offering such courses as The Regional, Junior or Community College, Current Developments in Higher Education, Basic Contributions to Administrative Thought, and Educational Finance.

If any of your staff members are interested in beginning a graduate program in adult education, right now would be a good time to apply so that the admission process can be completed in time to register for summer session. For further information, contact the Department at 228-5881 or write to me at the Adult Education Department, 5760 Toronto Road, Vancouver, B.C. V6T 1L2.

Sincerely yours,

William S. Griffith
Professor and Chairman
Adult Education Department
