E.S.L. EDITORIAL COMMITTEE

As many of you know, an Editorial Committee has been set up to give guidance and assistance to authors of new K.E.C.-E.S.L. publications destined for sale at K.E.C. King Edward Campus is not in the business of publishing books; however, effective E.L.T. instruction and the resulting reputation of the various programs has created not only a large internal but also an external demand for published materials. A number of instructors also have been wanting to publish tried and tested materials to satisfy inter-departmental demand and have asked for publication guidance. An Editorial Committee, made up of representatives from each Department, therefore, has been set up, not only to give guidance to new authors, but also to ensure that the publications for sale reflect the highest standards of the classroom and the profession as a whole.

As the Editorial Committee actively deals only with material ready to be published for sale, each author is expected to work with his/her Department Head on setting up, writing, testing and evaluating each manuscript. Guidelines have been provided to each Department Head for this purpose.

Should you wish any further information on the Editorial Committee, please contact your Department Head or any of the following representatives, who will be more than willing to consult with you on matters concerning the Committee.

Elizabeth Atkins
Pat Burn
Cheryl Jibodh
Diane Jones
Sheila Rooney
Herbert Salzmänn
Bruce M. Watson

Good luck to all potential authors!

TELEPHONE PROCEDURE

If you plan on a meeting and wish to be undisturbed by phone calls, please do not leave your phone off the hook. It certainly achieves the desired peace and quiet but creates havoc with the telephone system.

There are two alternate procedures:

1. Have your calls re-directed to another local, or
2. Notify the switchboard operator to take messages.

While on the subject of telephones, it would help if faculty checked their mail boxes for messages at the end of their working day.
