COLLEGE BOARD MEETING

The Vancouver Community College Board met in regular session on Wednesday evening, March 25th. Background material related to the agenda of the Board, the College President's report and the minutes of the Board meeting of March 4th have all been placed in the library for the perusal of those interested.

The agenda included discussion and appropriate action on the following:

- Career Preparation Program,
- Five-year Operating Budget Forecast,
- Volunteer Management Program,
- RACs for English Language Training,
- B.C.A.C. Annual Dues,
- Power Engineering Correspondence Program for Non-Residents.

CHAIRMAN, COLLEGE FOUNDATIONS DIVISION

Interviews for the chairmanship of the College Foundations Division took place this week Thursday. The Recommendation Committee had two good applicants and interviewed each of them.

Following the interviews, I submitted the Committee's recommendation to President A.S. Manera who has indicated to me that he approves the Committee's recommendation.

It is with pleasure, therefore, that I announce the appointment of Gordon Pawelchak as Chairman of the College Foundations Division, effective July, 1981. Congratulations, Gordon! I know you'll enjoy your new assignment.

DEPARTMENT HEAD - SCIENCE

As a consequence of Gordon Pawelchak's appointment as the College Foundations Division Chairman, a vacancy has been created for the appointment as Department Head, Science beginning 1981 July 01.

Because half of the Science Department will be on vacation May-June and one-half will be on vacation July-August, it will be necessary for the appointment to be made before 1981 May 01.

Therefore, the Department Head position will be posted immediately with applications to reach the Director of Personnel and Labour Relations by Friday 1981 April 10 and the Recommendation Committee to meet on Thursday 1981 April 30.

FACILITATOR SKILLS TRAINING

There will be another Facilitator Skills Workshop given by the Ministry of Education in May. Attendance could be an appropriate use of professional development leave.

Any instructor interested in attending should contact my secretary, Mrs. Akin, by Friday, April 03.

MOVED LATELY???????????

Instructors and staff are reminded to leave all changes of address and telephone number with either Ms.
McClure or Mrs. Murdock in the main office. Lately we have had a rash of mail returned - and you KNOW how long it takes just going one way!

Notifying your department office or even the Regional Office is not the answer! An entire routing system is in effect to ensure that everyone-
K.E.C., central Personnel, Payroll, etc., all receive the changes.

SO - if you have moved lately, or even not-so-lately, drop a note to Remember, the next thing to go astray

ON DUTY - OFF CAMPUS

I will be off campus from Friday, March 27 until Friday, April 3. Mr. Casey will be attending to matters which normally cross my desk. Mr. Pankratz will attend to those of an administrative nature. If in doubt, please contact my secretary, Mrs. Akin.

R.F.C.

EXPORT EDUCATION

The College is involved in investigating and reporting on Export Education, which is currently defined as the means of deployment of instructors or other specialists to other countries for instructional or other specialized educational services.

If you have had overseas experience in an educational setting, please give me a brief written resume of it.

R.F.C.

HEALTH SERVICES ADVISORY COMMITTEE

In response to my recent request, seven faculty members volunteered to serve on the above committee. I am most appreciative of your interest and especially of your willingness to participate.

My thanks to all of you for volunteering.

The Management Committee, at its meeting on Monday, selected Joan Cornish to serve on the committee for the year commencing 81 April 1.

SPECIAL NOTICES

The Bookstore will be closed on Monday, March 30 for inventory.

Due to illness there will be no evening Cashier (from 4:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.) March 30, 31 and April 1.

Please remember to use the YELLOW FINAL EXAM work order form for your finals. This will ensure that the exams will be run before any other work in the print shop.

IT'S A DIRTY JOB - BUT SOMEBODY HAS TO DO IT!

The K.E.C. Board Room is made available for use by groups and individuals at this campus with the understanding that the room is left in an appropriate condition at all times. It must be stressed AGAIN that the users of the Board Room have the responsibility to clean up after themselves, leaving the room ready for immediate occupancy by the next user group.

It is understandable that after a long, and often tedious meeting, individuals in the Board Room are anxious to leave. But it takes only a minute to throw out empty cups and dirty ashtrays, put chairs back around the table, erase material on the chalkboard, pick up papers and carry cold coffee back to the office.

So many of you seem to think that "someone else" will "get it". But this is NOT a job done by the support staff. The users of the Board Room must do it themselves or refrain from using the Board Room.

TO: THE VANCOUVER COMMUNITY COLLEGE COMMUNITY
FROM: THE PRESIDENT

With regret, I announce that Mr. A. H. Glenesk, Director of Continuing Education, has tendered his resignation and the College Board has accepted it, to be effective on 1981 October 1.

Mr. Glenesk has served the cause of post-secondary education in B. C. for 19 years, 13 of which have been spent at V.C.C. He is also the founding chief executive officer for Capilano College, having served in that capacity for a period of six years.

During his tenure as Director of Continuing Education, many innovative programs have been developed and many adjustments to changing conditions have been successfully made. At my request, Mr. Glenesk will be available for consultation after his retirement, to work on special projects as the need develops.

Mr. Glenesk will be missed by his many friends in education but we extend to him and to his wife, Frances, every good wish for the future.

LOST, STOLEN, or STRAYED?

Alf Glenesk, Director of Continuing Ed. at Regional Office thinks he left his brief case here at K.E.C. a week or so ago.

Recently, "someone" phoned Regional Office to say they had found his brief case, but neglected to leave their name or where the case could be picked up! If YOU are the one who found it, please call Alf and let him know who you are and where he might retrieve his "case".

TAP, TAP, TAP. I have decided to live in the 1930s. I have decided to tap dance there, to a time when the women had long hair and wore silky gowns and sang in a deep voice. This was a time when people could smoke without getting cancer and when the poor were poor, but proud and happy and had plenty to eat.

Tap, tap, tap. I love the 1930s. I see them in old movies and so I know all about them. I want to sail to Europe on the Ile de France ("with all the gulls around it . . .") and watch Fred and Ginger dance on the deck. I love Luckies and Camels and double-breasted suits. I'd wear knickers and have a touring car (whatever that is) and call women "baby." God, I'd kill to call a woman "baby."

No doubt about it, the thirties were the time for me. I would have gone to nightclubs with the floors that shimmered. I could have drunk all night (martinis) and never gotten drunk and woke up in the morning with just an amusing little hangover and vague recollections from the night before of blondes, bon mots, and a dog named Asta.

Tap, tap, tap. There were no alcoholics in the 1930s and people were not yet neurotic. Hamburgers did not give cancer and coffee was java and healthy and no one talked about being in their own space and doing their own thing. They said words like "shamus" and "gat" and "gunsel". No one says gunsel anymore. No one even dresses for dinner anymore.

In the 1930s, there were real radicals. They wore rimless glasses and they always walked into the wind wearing nothing but a suit jacket, but they were never cold. They drank a lot of coffee, their mothers drank tea from a glass, and their wives or their women stayed in the kitchen, served food on white porcelain kitchen tables, talked politics with a kind of innate wisdom and moved just like the women in the nightclubs.

Sometimes I wonder if the 1940s were not more my time. I would have been wonderful in the Blitz. I would have worn a trenchcoat and smoked like crazy and been driven around London by a WREN who looked like Joan Fontaine. I would have had a place on Berkeley Square (where nightingales sang) and then gone off to the war and come back with a slight but very interesting war wound. I'd rather not talk about it. The main trouble with the 1940s, though, is that they end with the fifties.

Tap, tap, tap. I think I'll stick to the thirties. We had our own war in the thirties. We had the Spanish Civil War with George Orwell and Hemingway (ah, what a fool he made of himself one night, but that is a different story) and Antoine de Saint-Exupéry, the fellow who wrote the Little Prince which I read much later. In the fifties to be precise. Everyone drank wine out of goat skins and ran with the bulls at Pamplona and when they died, and they died by the score, they did it very well.

In the 1930s, people wore hats. I look good in hats and back then everyone wore them. I could have carried a walking stick, which is something I now and again get the y'en to do, and I could have gone up to the stadium to watch Ruth and Gehrig or gone to see vaudeville — maybe Johnson. Yes, definitely Johnson. At night, I'd go down to the neighborhood trains really are and the Marx Brothers would be running up and down the aisles. The food would be terrific on the train and I would drink lots of champagne and have a wonderful conversation with George Gershwin and George S. Kaufman, Nathaniel West and F. Scott Fitzgerald.

ald. Beware of movie studios making offers, I would tell them.

White tie, top hat, and tails

In the 1930s, there was lots of unemployment, but no street crime and even the poor wore ties. The summers were hot but comfortable and the winters were cold but bracing and there was such thing yet as Florida. Shirley Temple was a little girl, the women wore hats, Roosevelt talked from the radio, movies were better than ever, people held hands on the street, romance thrived, sex was for grownups, and Ronald Reagan was a hit.

Tap, tap, tap. We're back. □
