MONEY - MONEY - MONEY!

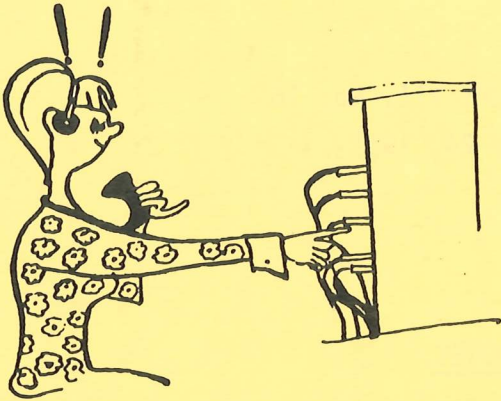

Because of the postal strike, pay cheques for those employees on time sheets have been sent to the campuses for pick-up. K.E.C. employees are asked to get their cheques from Fanny Yip, Payroll Clerk in the Administration office. Please come in person, as your signature is required. This procedure will continue for the duration of the postal strike.

HELP! HELP! HELP! WE NEED YOURS!

In May and June of this year, long distance calls have been made to Hong Kong totalling $420.00! There is no way to check these calls so the College has to pay for them. Four of the calls were made starting at 1:30 in the afternoon. We ask that all department heads lock their offices when not in use. If anyone has a 'clue' concerning these calls, please let us know!

THE PUZZLEMENT IS A PUZZLEMENT NO LONGER!

Five responses came in in answer to the 'banana' puzzlement. They were ALL correct! The banana is 5.75 inches long. Some comments accompanying the answers:

"What an 18 oz. monkey wants with an $11\frac{1}{2}$ oz. banana is beyond me!"

"I'll be a monkey's uncle!"

"The monkey's mother is $\frac{1}{2}$ as old as the monkey will be when it is 3 times as old as its mother was when she was $\frac{1}{2}$ as old as the monkey will be when it is twice as old as it is now."

"YES, WE HAVE NO BANANAS!" (from 'the Phantom')

I read the convoluted problem in last week's Times. Since no coefficient of function is given, I must assume that there is none. Since the same amount of the rope is on each side of the fence, each part balances the other. All that remains is the monkey and the banana on one side, and a weight equal to that of the monkey on the other. If we take the monkey away from one side, and the weight from the other, all we have left is a banana on one side and nothing on the other.

Therefore, the weight of the banana is nothing; and so its length is nothing.

The banana is either in the imagination of the monkey or in the mind of the puzzle writer.
