MORE NOSTALGIA - "SIMPLE, YET MEMORABLE".....

November ... 1978 ... The personal significance of that day vanished the moment I stepped in and was made aware that I was at K.E.C. You see, Admissions and the Counselling Resource Centre didn't exist nor had they been conceived at that time. A "survivor" just had to juggle the many different roles and functions ... or else freaked out of the job.

Around 3 o'clock in the afternoon, counsellors took their cue and aimed towards the reception desk. One held a lighted candle, another a cup-cake, the third a greeting card ...

and the fourth ... well ... he put it across rather strongly that I stay away from the phone that had just started to ring; in fact, I was relieved of my duties for the rest of the day ... set free to relish the sweetness of their gesture.

AN INTRODUCTION

For those of you who I haven't already met, I'd like to introduce myself. I'm the new community health nurse in the Health Service Department. (As you may know, Wendy has left to be married). Please drop in when you are nearby so I can get to know you. I am looking forward to meeting you and working with you at K.E.C. Please be sure to call if you need health information, or would like a class on a health topic.

FROM HEALTH SERVICES

'Tis the season to be jolly! But how can you be merry without over-indulging in the 'spirits' of the Christmas season? It can be difficult but it can be done. Take advantage of the Health Services next Health Week on Alcohol Abuse, between December 14th and 18th. We will be presenting sober facts about alcohol, its effect on your body, and drinking-driving. Look in next week's K.E.C. Times for more information.

CAN WE MAKE A DEAL?

During the past year, Richard Darville has worked with the Legal Services Society of British Columbia in preparing a book and a teacher's manual to introduce the language of law to adult basic education students at the upper Basic Education level. It should also be suitable for the more senior English Language Training classes and, because, to quote the introduction, "It is written in ordinary language and with good humour", it could be modified for lower levels. Most of it is made up of stories and it does contain real legal information.

The production was made available through a grant from the Legal Services Society of British Columbia.

Evelyn Battell, Betty Cameron, Laurel Gould and Michael Szasz have all been acknowledged for the help that they have given in the preparation of the Workbook from the use of draft copies in the pilot stage to detailed comments about various sections in the manuscript.

CANADA WORLD YOUTH

Canada World Youth launched its 1982 recruitment campaign with the news that 800 young people would be participating in this year's youth exchange programs. CWY, funded in part by the Canadian International Development Agency and now in its 11th consecutive year, is looking for workers and students between the ages of 17 and 20 years who are interested in learning about development and cross cultural communication in both Canada and a developing country.

These young Canadians, joined by an equal number of exchange country participants will spend 7 months living and working in vastly different cultures and communities. Small teams of CWY participants, each with a Canadian and exchange group leader, integrate themselves into communities, first in Canada then overseas, through volunteer work in fields such as agriculture, co-ops, environment social services, small businesses, recreation, and community groups.

All costs during the program (food, lodging, and transport) are covered by Canada World Youth. Even some pocket money is provided.

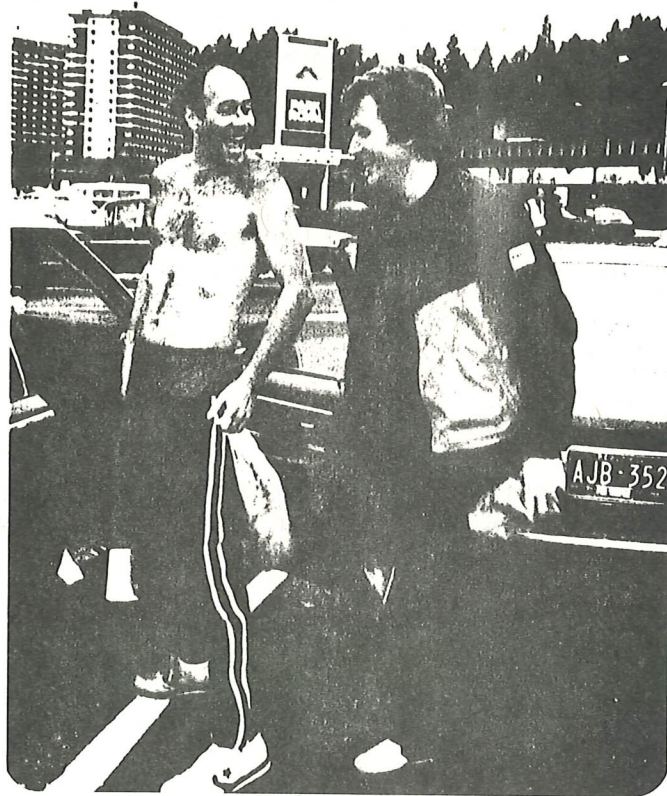

Canada World Youth's 1st program starts in July and the 2nd program in September. Deadline for receipt of applications for both programs is FEBRUARY 19th. Application forms and more information are available at Canada Manpower Centres, schools, and Canada World Youth Regional Offices at 2524 Cypress St., Vancouver, B.C. V6J 3N2. Telephone: 732-5113.

AN ADDITIONAL $400,000

Readers of the Times may recollect an item of several weeks ago which mentioned the College Board's submission, to the Minister, of a supplementary operating budget request of $400,000 to allow the College to mount much needed additional classes in English language training. Word was received this week from Mr. Smith indicating his approval of the request.

Congratulations from all of us to Jon Washburn, whose energy and expertise has been a tremendous boon, not only to the College Choral Program, but also to choral education in the province.
