IN SUPPORT OF UNITED WAY

This year, more than ever, United Way needs your help! Inflation, unemployment, salary roll-backs, unrest, fear, depression, and on and on - causing depression, stress, violence - among the people of our community. United Way is helping as much as possible through Agencies such as Crisis Intervention and Suicide Prevention Centre and similar agencies in other communities. These "help lines" are manned by volunteers and are kept open 24 hours a day. Phone calls have doubled since last year, indicating that more and more people need help.

United Way services more than 84 Agencies throughout the Lower Mainland and each of these agencies need more help than ever in view of all the problems mentioned above.

We who are fortunate, so far, in not needing these services, must help maintain them in order to strengthen our community. We appeal to your generosity and concern and know that, this year, you will help us to achieve our goal. At King Edward Campus, our goal is $8,000 (the same as last year). We missed the mark last year - but, hopefully, we will reach (or exceed) it this time!

Bring or send YOUR contribution to Mary Griffith, King Edward Campus.

REMEMBER - 95.85% OF YOUR DOLLAR GOES DIRECTLY TO THE AGENCIES SUPPORTED BY UNITED WAY!

EDUCATIONAL LEAVE

In spite of budget restraints, $23,800 has been made available to support educational leave for faculty this fiscal year. This money goes to help pay for those instructors who substitute for the instructors who are on paid educational leave. Where no substitute is required, no extra funding is required.

The instructors who are, or have been, on educational leave this year are:

Grant Kelly: 1982 September 01 - 1983 August 31

Pursuing a doctorate in the Community College Leadership Program at the University of Texas.

Barbara Little: 1982 January 04 - 1982 April 30, half-time

Research related to completion of an M.Ed. degree in Adult Education at the University of British Columbia.

Victor Sinclair: 1982 June 01 - 1982 August 31

Completing Master's degree at the University of British Columbia.

Rose Marie Watson: 1982 July 01 - 1982 August 30

Attending the University of British Columbia taking courses towards an M.Ed. degree

Already we have received applications from two instructors for short term educational leave for the 1983-84 fiscal year. These applications, together with any received by that date, will be considered by the Educational Leave Committee in mid-February. Commitments will be made dependent upon the amount of funding available.

If you are contemplating applying for paid educational leave, please consult Article 8.2 of the current Collective Agreement for the conditions pertaining to such leave, and apply to the Principal in good time.

Unpaid educational leave is readily available.

ADULT BASIC EDUCATION: ENGLISH AND COMMUNICATIONS CURRICULUM GUIDE
READING DEVELOPMENT: A RESOURCE BOOK FOR ADULT BASIC EDUCATION

This week I received the two above publications from the Ministry of Education.

Both are of pleasing format, well organized and very pertinent to activities at King Edward Campus.

My greatest source of pride in reading through them is the appreciation of the input into them of King Edward Campus instructors.

For the first one, Ted Kirby, Grace Shaw and Diane Thompson were on the project advisory committee and Ted Kirby was one of the curriculum writers.

For the second, Barbara Little was one of the writers and Betty Pletcher was one of the reviewers.

All involved are to be congratulated upon their contributions.

After circulation to the Division Chairmen, these books will be placed in the library. I recommend that you examine them, obtain copies and use them.

P.R.

AN EDITORIAL IN THE VANCOUVER SUN (September 29, 1982):

Just one day's pay

Charities are caught in a squeeze by economic hard times.

The demand for services increases as growing numbers of people become, and stay, unemployed, and as economic hardship strains already tense family relationships.

But in these times it is harder than ever for social service agencies to keep up with growing needs. Economic downturns leave potential contributors unable or unwilling to part with their money.

As a consequence of last year's economic climate, the United Way fell $300,000 short of its $7.9 million goal. This year, times are even tougher. The goal has been set at $8.6 million, reflecting the effects of inflation and increasing need.

The United Way is urging all employed people to donate a day's pay. Averaged out over a year, it works out to about $1.50 a week for someone earning $20,000. Most people in that salary range wouldn't think twice before regularly spending $1.50 on a beer or a package of cigarettes, but they flinch when asked, once a year, to donate $78.

Divided among the 84 agencies, plus the Canadian Red Cross Society, that are funded by United Way, that weekly $1.50 — or even the yearly $78 — is little enough. But even that small amount from each donor adds up quickly and is of tremendous importance to each organization.

This year it is more important than ever that everyone make some contribution — a tiny one if necessary, but something — because hard times also mean that fewer really large donations are likely.

Even the hard pressed should not forget that there are people, right here in Vancouver, worse off than themselves.
