YOU KNOW YOU'RE TURNING INTO A FUDDY-DUDDY WHEN...

- You turn down a date to go home and finish papering the cupboards.
- You wish other people's children were as well-trained as your cat.
- You can't get to sleep without your hot milk.
- You keep all your old clothes—the styles will come back eventually.
- You polish the silverware in restaurants before starting to eat.
- You're violently upset when somebody at the office drops their trash in your wastepaper basket.

MATHEMATICS INSTRUCTORS

Are you a regular instructor who has taught mathematics, who is now instructing in another area and who would like to teach mathematics again? If you are, there is a possibility that by teaching mathematics you could save the job of another instructor in your area who is scheduled for lay-off.

We are in the sad predicament of having the possibility of having to hire mathematics instructors on term contracts and, at the same time, laying off English Language Training instructors who have been with us for more than four years and whom, under more favourable circumstances, we might have wished to offer regular appointments. Prospects for the immediate future indicate an increasing demand for mathematics and science instructors and a decreasing demand in the humanities area.

If you can teach mathematics, please contact G.A. Pawelchak, Chairman, College Foundations Division, on his return from vacation Monday, 1984 August 14 or very soon thereafter. Remember, a move on your part could save the job of a colleague.

R.F.C.

P.S. If you are a term instructor who has been with us for several years, your application would be considered should there be insufficient interest on the part of regular instructors.

VACATION

I will be on vacation from Friday, 1984 July 27 until Monday, 1984 August 20.

During this time:

Barbara Bowers will handle my desk;
Myrna Redman will handle routine matters; and
Mr. Pankratz will make administrative decisions on my behalf.
