COPYRIGHT - edited by Francoise Hebert. Ottawa: Canadian Library Association, 1985. Proceedings of the Workshop held at the Annual Conference of the Canadian Library Association, June 7, 1984, Toronto, Ont.

Copyright, arriving just after the College's revised photocopying procedures, should begin to answer what does and does not constitute copyright infringement.
In addition to a review of recent government and legal decisions, a panel discussion addresses specific problems: changing the format of audio/visual materials, transparencies, photocopying magazine and newspaper articles and multiple class copies. The mechanics of a copyright collective are also discussed.

TEAL CONFERENCE '86

K.E.C. instructors, and the staff of the KEC Bookstore, gave King Edward Campus good visibility at last week's TEAL Conference. Their contributions to what was to me one of the best TEAL Conferences that I have attended, were very much appreciated. It was great to see so many of the KEC publications on the Ministry's official Text Book list.

Now is the time to prepare for next years TEAL/TESL Conference at the Hyatt Regency Hotel and to dream of the TEAL/TESOL Conference at the Pan Pacific Hotel in 1986. Please plan your presentations and your Professional Development Leave accordingly.

FAREWELL, FRIENDS

It is with both excitement and remorse that I submit my final article for the KEC Times. I am excited about having the opportunity to move to Langara and experience the challenge of managing the Bookstore there. However, I also feel sad that I will no longer work day-to-day with the staff and faculty of King Edward Campus.

I would like to thank you all for your support and help in the development and growth of the KEC Bookstore. It has been a pleasure to serve such a fun group of people over the past three years.

Since the announcement of my transfer many of you have taken time to offer your congratulations, appreciation, or to express regret about my leaving. It is hard to describe how gratifying and heartwarming your comments have been. Thanks for so many kind words.

There are two people that merit a special "Bouquet". These of course are my co-workers, Darlene and Cheryl. I am indebted to them for their dedication, perseverance, patience and participation in the development of our store. It would have been impossible to accomplish what has been done without their efforts and support. I will miss you, Ladies!

I intend to keep in touch and hope that you will stop and say "HI" if you visit Langara, and to all those people who will miss "RIBBING" me, I remind you, there is always Jim Humble.

I wish the best of luck to my successor, and hope they get as much enjoyment and satisfaction from this job as I have.

Greg King
