V.C.C. SPRING FESTIVAL OF MUSIC

This FRIDAY (APRIL 11) and SATURDAY (APRIL 12) the Music Department presents the final two concerts of the 12th Annual Spring Festival of Music.

FRIDAY evening at Langara Campus our two stage bands, under the direction of Dave Branter; and the Soundwave '86 jazz choir, under the direction of Peter Taylor, perform in the gym at 8:00 p.m. Soundwave has just finished recording the second V.C.C. record album, and the stage bands have just finished a C.B.C. recording. The 'Sounds of Jazz' will be fantastic.

SATURDAY, April 12 promises to be one of the more memorable evenings in V.C.C. music history. The evening will, among other fine performances, feature the V.C.C. premiere of the 'Toy Symphony', with several notable guest artists. You are most welcome to join us and hear these superb performers:

Harry Pankratz	- Triangle
Gerry Sylvester	- Ratchet
Miriam Bennett	- Nightingale
John Cousineau	- Toy trumpet
Richard Pearce	- Cuckoo
Marvin Lamoureaux	- Quail-drum

In addition to the Toy Symphony, the performance will include the Canada West Chamber Orchestra playing Corelli 'Concerto Grosso' opus #6 number 4; the orchestra with the Willan Choir performing the Missa SS. Philippi Et Jacobi Mass; and V.C.C. Concerto Competition winner Anita Krause.

Come and join us for a musical treat.

SIMON FRASER - CONTINUING EDUCATION

Simon Fraser University is continuing to offer a variety of educational television programming on the Knowledge Network. A number of flyers giving dates, times and an outline of their programs for Summer, 1986 are posted on the bulletin boards.

The ten-part television series Mass Communications in Canada explores the role of the mass media and other electronic communication technologies in Canada. Details on taking the course for credit are included in the flyer.

Perspectives on Women, a series of eight television programs covering a wide range of issues and concerns of women today has been produced for general viewing. Details on taking the course for credit or general interest are outlined in the flyer.

The subjects of both drug use and abuse are emotionally charged. The intention of the two-part series Pleasure and Pain, Drug Use and Abuse is to make British Columbians more aware of the complexity of social strategies for reducing drug use and abuse and of the diversity of opinion that now exists.

Trade in Your Blues, a three-part interactive series is designed to help viewers understand some of the emotional problems faced by women throughout their lifecycle and of the available treatments for these problems. During the course of each program, viewers will be able to talk, by telephone, with the host and a guest-expert.

See Bulletin Boards for further information or contact Heather Persons, Co-ordinator, Educational Telecommunications Projects, at 291-3631.

EXPECTING A VISITOR IN YOUR AREA?

Wonderful if you can let us know (first hand, if possible) if you are expecting someone - so we could do our job and do our best in directing your visitors to the appropriate area or office. A simple call to 230 is all it takes or drop by at the Information Centre and let us know. If need be, we'll roll out the carpet and make your guest feel welcome!

Dear Mr. Cunningham:

On behalf of the ABE ABC, I would like to thank you for hosting the 1986 Conference and Annual General Meeting.

The workshops and speakers were informative, the food was delicious, and your hospitality was much appreciated. It was particularly interesting to see the new King Edward Campus and to learn of the size and range of your programs.

Thank you again.

Yours truly,

Alison Macdonald

THEFTS ON CAMPUS

In the past couple of weeks we have had a series of thefts throughout the campus. Local alarms have been installed in various areas, security have staggered their shifts, increased their patrols and other security measures have been implemented.

However, help is needed from faculty/staff and students if this problem is to be solved. The following is a list of almost self evident basic security practices. However if carried out, such precautions should diminish if not eliminate campus thievery.

- (a) double check to see if offices are properly locked;
- (b) doors with combination locks should be shut when an area is unoccupied;
- (c) classrooms should be locked during breaks, students should not leave purses or other personal effects in unattended classrooms;
- (d) notify security of any unusual activities of persons loitering near office areas;
- (e) report lost or stolen keys immediately;
- (f) unattended and readily tradable items such as cash or credit cards, should be kept under secure lock and key. Desk drawers, locked or unlocked are a thief's prime target.

If we all work together, we can help make this campus a safer place to work and study in.

ALL MUDDLED UP

The fuzz that you see on your screen is for real! Our 'Silent Announcer' system has been out of commission since Thursday, April 3rd. Culprits are two amplifiers that broke down affecting parts of the building (must have suffered motion sickness or moving sickness!) Efforts are being co-ordinated to restore the system as soon as possible... hopefully, by next week.

'THE WORLD COMES TO VCC'

'Learn English with us', this attractive poster, together with other colourful pamphlets, ads - in different languages, art and craft work from Latin America, etc., made up one of the most popular displays in the Mount Pleasant Multi-cultural Mosaic at the Mount Pleasant Community Centre on April 5th. Vicky Monroy, Espie Aquino and Alice Wong were busy answering questions and giving out information about courses and programs in ESL, ABE and career training available at KEC. Several ESL students demonstrated their skills and talents in music and art-work. A big 'thank-you' to all who have participated in this Centennial celebration event during which KEC meets the world!

HELP FOR SHARON

In last week's King Edward Times there was a copy of a newspaper article on Sharon Musto, our College Foundations student whom all of us have seen very regularly during the past few years.

Sharon has been a cerebral palsy victim since birth. She will soon graduate with very good grades and enter the BCIT computer program.

She has been accepted at St. Barnabas Hospital in New York for a unique operation which has a 90% chance of success. However, there are hotel and travel expenses to be covered. The Music Department has contributed to help her through sales of refreshments at the Spring Festival performances.

If you wish to help through payroll deduction(s) please complete the following and send it to the Payroll Department.
