PEMC GIFT OF 1000+ FILMS COMES TO VCC

The Provincial Educational Media Centre (PEMC) has donated over a thousand 16mm. films to Vancouver Community College for use by the instructors and students whose libraries belong to the Media Exchange Cooperative, of which VCC is a member.

The films add a significant educational resource (worth almost a million dollars if we had to buy them now) to the existing VCC collection. The films are now being catalogued and processed in a systematic manner. As the films become available for circulation, you will be notified.

The Provincial Educational Media Centre is a major support to post-secondary institutions for the provision of instructional media materials. Within budget limitations, PEMC negotiates provincial duplication rights for videotape resources, lends films, and works in partnership with post-secondary media librarians to identify priority titles for clearance. Resource materials cleared provincially are available to educational institutions for a fraction of the cost of buying the original print.

Members of the Media Exchange Cooperative have continued to support resource sharing of film; and more recently, videotape titles, for the past 14 years. The consortium includes 17 colleges and institutes and 3 universities throughout the province. The goodwill and commitment of the member media library staffs have greatly extended the base of our resources for teaching and learning at VCC. The new PEMC films will enhance the access to these valuable resources for the consortium and for VCC clients.

For further information, please talk to your librarian. She may be contacted at local 439 or call the KEC library reference desk at local 513.
