THEATRE AT LARGE

A THOUSAND MILES OF RAILROAD AND A MOOSE

Ever thought of Canadian history as dull? Think again!

THEATRE AT LARGE is proud to present A THOUSAND MILES OF RAILROAD AND A MOOSE...all you ever wanted to know about Canada but didn't know you wanted to ask.

Canada has searched long and hard for its cultural identity. Sometimes it's hard to find - especially for students - amidst all the glare of competing networks and magazines.

So - does our home and native land really come down to just a thousand miles of railroad and a moose?

Of course not! This country is packed with stories, ethnic diversity, and LIFE...Our show brings alive the history which has shaped our unique country.

If you've ever wondered just what Mackenzie King said in all those conversations with his dog; or if the poignancy of the transplanted Chinese and Japanese immigrants has touched you; or if accounts of life in the fledgling Granville Village (Vancouver) peaks your curiosity - this show's for you!

We give our main focus to history in British Columbia, the western-most link in this improbable nation. Four performers, using mime, mask, music and slides, take the students through the development of our province in the context of the growth of Canada.

We introduce not only our history, but the mores, manners and attitudes which are uniquely ours. Few countries in the world have such a rich social fabric. We help the students to celebrate our diversity and the opportunities it opens up for the future.

As an introduction to our country, or a quick brush-up with a few new slants, A THOUSAND MILES OF RAILROAD AND A MOOSE promises to be entertaining and informative for ages 9 through 90.
