THE MOOSE IS BACK!

Due to popular demand the college is offering an evening performance of A Thousand Miles of Railroad and a Moose for students, members of the college and of the community at large (on Thursday, November 3, 6:00 - 7:00 p.m. in the Auditorium; see program notes).

Theatre at Large is a professional company, registered as a non-profit society. We are committed to reaching out to the community to educate through theatre --- to rediscovering the classics through contemporary eyes -- and to the development of new and innovative shows.

Theatre is a public act. It is not about isolated individuals - it is about actors and audience sharing alive events together. It is about the community at large. As society has become more complex and fragmented, we need theatre more than ever, to open our hearts and spirits, to make us laugh and dream.

A Thousand Miles of Railroad and a Moose has been written and produced especially for our college students, and it is a result of a co-operative venture between Theatre at Large and myself. The play has emerged from the pages of Canadian history, P.D. time and other times!

Responsible for the present production are: Claire Brown and Pauline Landberg, both artistic directors of Theatre at Large.

Join us in the adventure!

FROM THE BOOKSTORE

Solid Gold coupon books are available at $38.00, less staff discount of 10% for a net price of $34.20. The booklet can be used immediately and coupons do not expire until 1989 December 01. As well as dining, entertainment and accommodation coupons, the book contains offer good for $50.00 of Treasure Tours package holidays, as well as another savings of up to $50.00 on Canadian Airlines tickets. A magnificent value!

Cynthia Flood, who teaches at Langara Campus, has a book of short stories published called Animals in their Elements. It is available through the bookstore at $10.95.

Peter C. Newman's hardcover edition of Caesar's in the Wilderness, originally priced at $25.00 is available at $12.50! We have for autographed copies. Plan ahead for Christmas!!

Feedback, Please - Handling magazines has become a money-losing proposition. We are seriously considering discontinuing our magazine rack, but we will still maintain standing special orders for individuals. Because the magazines we receive are computer picked, based on previous sales of each title, our low sales means we often have titles dropped. If you have magazines you would like to buy at the bookstore, just let us know (almost any title is available). As long as we sell even one copy of a title consistently, it can be maintained. If we do not hear from you, we will be discontinuing the magazine rack in the near future.

Film Services - Many people are unaware that we provide a film processing service and offer a 10% staff discount on it. Films left before noon are usually available the next day, and we will phone to let you know when the pictures arrive.

Happy Halloween to all and Bon Voyage to Vanita Puri who is off to India and will not be back until January.
