In the thank you's for our International Women's Day dinner, Lynn MacMullen's name was missing. Everyone on the planning committee knows just how major a blunder that was, for Lynn was our recorder, keeper of the files, and communications kingpin or should that be queenpin. And all this done with enthusiasm and supportiveness. My apologies, Lynn.

THEATRE AT LARGE SCHOOLS PROGRAM

THEATRE AT LARGE

For Release

THE GREAT WORKS SHOP-SERIES V Contemporary British Playwrights

QUESTION

$6.00 = 2.5 hours =

- a) engaging theatre
- b) captivating conversation
- c) 32 chuckles, snorts or guffaws
- d) all of the above

This exploration of chosen contemporary British Playwrights begins with an introduction to the author, presentation of selected scenes and an open floor discussion.

Each Wednesday at 7:30 P.M.

Wednesday, April 5 BLOODY POETRY Howard Brenton
1816 - the flight out of England. Shelley, Mary Shelley and Claire Clairmont meet Byron. Radicalism, artistic defiance, intellectual rage, bloody poetry.

Wednesday, April 12 THE GRACE OF MARY TRAVERSE Timberlake Wertenbaker
Whirling through the dissipations and political intrigues of 18th century London, Mary and her mysterious companion explore the moral cost of knowledge.

Wednesday, April 19 TRAVESTIES Tom Stoppard
Ah, yes, Henry Carr remembers it well: Zurich during the Great War, Lenin, James Joyce and Tristan Tzara all acting in The Importance of Being Earnest...?

Wednesday, April 26 RESTORATION Edward Bond
A despicable Lord frames his servant for the murder of his equally despicable wife. Oscar Wilde with a political imperative.

"Call it bare-bones,
but with a play, a reading and a post performance discussion thrown in for $6.00($3.50 stds/snr's)
call it good value."

Admission is $6.00 per person, or $50.00 for a team of ten. Individual players are most welcome; we'll make sure you're placed on a team. There are prizes handed out throughout the night, with the best team winning dinner but are put together by our highly skilled team of researchers. Last year's winning team captain (Malcolm Cant) has some foolish notion that his team can win again, however, this year we will hide the answer list in a better spot to ensure fairness for all.

Make a point of coming to Trivia Night. Late evening snacks will be served, and the bar is open all night. Tickets are available in the Music Department.
