DOMCO FOODSERVICES:

Reflections for the Holidays

The holiday season is soon upon us, and with it all the joys of friends and family. A good time to count our blessings - as individuals, as a company and even a nation. At Domco, we are grateful for many things; for the health and happiness of our staff, for the prosperity that we have experienced in the past, and for the optimism that the future brings.

The holidays also bring the end of a year, and the beginning of a new decade. The 1990's are sure to bring a wealth of challenges to our growing nation. Foremost in the minds of many are the economy and the ecology. At Domco, we have a responsibility to our customers and to our community to respect these concerns, and to develop methods that contribute towards solutions, instead of fueling the problems. We look for input from our own staff as well as from our valued clients, and seek to remain a progressive and positive member of the King Edward Campus team and society as a whole.

For the year of 1989, many thanks go to our customers and friends who have given us so much support. Special gratitude goes to our staff for their diligent support.

It is on behalf of the staff and management of Domco that we wish you a very Joyous Holiday, A Happy New Year, and only the best in 1990 and beyond.

A Season of Sharing

John McLeod, one of our students, very kindly wrote this poem to show his appreciation for the work we do in the library. Doesn't seem like work at all, though, when our patrons show their gratitude like this.

Merry Christmas to Librarians!

Librarians, your special qualities

Make their mark upon the world.

In your own friendly way

You meet and greet people.

This is how you are.

With always a smile

On your face.

Your cheerfulness raises the spirits

Of all who you touch.

You are a light in the world.

May the spirit of Christmas

Surround you with hope and joy,

May laughter and love be yours

Throughout the holiday season -

A Season of Sharing.
