MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE!

On December 21, when the college was about to close for the holidays, a new and eagerly awaited desk was delivered to the Learning Centre. However it subsequently disappeared without a trace and by January 2 there was not a sign of it. Subsequent searches have revealed nothing. If this desk has wandered into your area and parked itself, could you please guide it back to its original home. The reunion of this desk with its Learning Centre guardians would indeed be a happy one!

INTERNATIONAL LITERACY YEAR EVENT

The Book Voyage, an International Literacy Year event, was held at Carnegie Centre on February 14, 1990. Students from the Basic Education Department attended the event and participated if they wished. The following language experience story reflects the feelings of some of the students about the Book Voyage.

CARNEGIE CENTRE - THE BOOK VOYAGE

Yesterday was the first opening of the 1990 Literacy Year. There is a book for other adult learners. The students' own stories will go in the book. Yesterday lots of students talked about learning English, their problems learning to read and write, and their lives. Everybody had different ways of living, but everyone had the same problems. Students from all over the Lower Mainland talked about learning and some people read their own stories or had someone else read them.

The book is about courage. It helps people to speak out about their problems. Some people were nervous, some people were stuttering, some people needed help to read. The stories made people laugh and cry. Some of the stories were very sad. People had been very hurt when they were children in school. The best thing was it didn't matter whether the stories were funny or sad; people still told them and they still want to learn. They know they have a future from their learning.
