TUBERCULOSIS CORRECTION

The item in last week's KEC Times was in error. The student who is ill with tuberculosis was a student at KEC North - not at this campus. So there is not a concern regarding staff exposure at KEC.

However, the Student Health Services Department does recommend that staff in close contact with students should seriously consider having a yearly T.B. Skin Test.

T.B. Skin Tests are performed in the Student Health Services Department on Monday. Please call me at local 209 for more information.

A WORD FROM THE BEAUTIFICATION COMMITTEE

Dear Colleagues:

Improving our college environment and enhancing our campus in a comprehensive way, has been a long standing concern and recommendation of The Beautification Committee.

To this end The Beautification Committee has sought professional advice from The School of Architecture, U.B.C. We are familiar with the high standards of design work done by architecture students in their final year under the direction of architecture professors. We also like the idea of creative exchange between our college and U.B.C. for the mutual benefit of both educational communities. We therefore highly recommend this project and invite your participation. After some initial consultation between Ron Walker and Bud Wood, both Professors of Architecture, and Moura Quayle Professor of Landscape Architecture, Bud Wood writes some informal notes about the possibility of our College employing three or four senior Architecture students to bring forward suggestions and opportunities of enhancing the quality of King Edward Campus places and experiences:

"The work would take place in our school's studio on Granville Island, and would be done under the supervision and guidance of myself and Moura Quayle, Associate Professor of Landscape Architecture. The work would, of course, be conducted in concert with your faculty, staff and student advice and involvement."

The Architecture School sees the design work at, perhaps, three levels:

1.    Foreground:     that which is immediately touchable and "close in", which could be implemented in the short-term and within a modest maintenance budget.
2.    Middleground:   design ideas which would propose rearrangement or re-alignment of activities, spaces to reinforce active casual and formal places. This level of intervention would require some modest capital budget for change.
3.    Background:     to develop alternative visions for development and growth involved for long term planning and expansion.

The Beautification Committee recommends a comprehensive participating, and inductive design approach to a renewed studying of campus and an initial approach to foreground, middleground and background matters. Our specific concerns such as softening of entrance ways, spatial treatment of courtyard and walkways, student cafeteria, building/ground relationships, auditorium improvements, murals, surface/texture treatment and landscaping can thus be given a proper professional approach, encompassing both functional and aesthetic concerns. Other functional and spatial concerns can also be considered at this time and given quality architectural attention.

We are pleased that the college has approved this project. At present I am communicating with Bud Wood and the Granville Studio of the School of Architecture.

I invite faculty and student input and creative participation in this all campus project. The process of input/exchange design work is expected to continue during the summer months and we look forward to creative cooperation at all levels. I can be reached at local 548 or 228-9455 or you can indicate your interest by putting a note in my mailbox.

For The Beautification Committee,

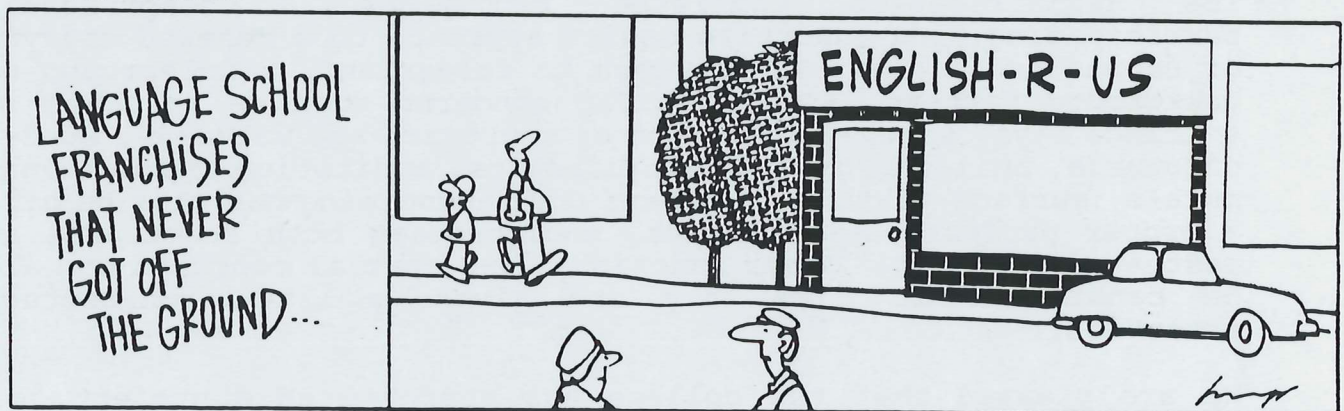

Jana Gaitanakis
