FROM THE LIBRARY

Computer terminals for the VCC on-line catalogue have recently been installed in all college libraries. While full system implementation is expected to take several months, limited searching by title and subject is now possible. Please bear with us as we work through any bugs in the system and stay tuned for news of additions and improvements as they become available.

Also, please note that for the period of May to August, the Library has suspended the routing of journals to individuals. We will resume this service in September. However, we will continue to send journals to departments that have subscriptions.
