KEC TIMES PUBLICATIONS

In the interest of the environment and since so many are away in the summer months, the KEC Times will be published every other week in August and there will be no KEC Times next week. Publication dates will be as follows:

Thursday, August 01
Thursday, August 15
Thursday, August 29

Normal service will be resumed in September. Please let me know if this change of plan becomes an inconvenience.

ENJOY YOUR SUMMER!

PSST... CAN YOU GIVE US A HAND?

The Vancouver Racing Society is the Proud Host of the 1991 Teleglobe World Cup English Bay Triathlon on Saturday, July 27, 1991.

This is the fourth race of an 11 race series around the world and it is the only world cup race being held in Canada. Competing will be all the top triathletes from around the world, as well as our own local competitors (not ones to back off from a challenge).

We really need a lot of volunteers in order to make this event a successful Vancouver and BC presentation. If you could volunteer, we would really appreciate it if you would phone Liz Graham at 731-7738 or fax her at 738-7583 and leave your name and phone number. You will receive a great souvenir shirt to go with the fun times.

Computer Viruses : The Continuing Problem

The problem of computer viruses is still very much with us at KEC. By way of illustration, here is something which happened just last week.

A very upset instructor came to me with a disk from which over half the files (more than 50) had suddenly vanished, and for which he had no backup copy. When I looked at the disk directory, the last filename in the list contained "garbage" characters, and was not one of his files. This is a typical symptom of the Stoned virus, and when I checked his disk with Virus Scan, that is what I found. Once the problem was identified, cleaning the virus off the disk with Clean Up is (usually) quite simple; however, that does not recover lost or damaged files. Fortunately I was able to use Norton Disk Doctor to recover the lost data, but that isn't always possible.

The Stoned virus (and its relatives and descendants), which was the villain of that story, is probably the most common computer virus problem at KEC. It is highly infectious, and since it doesn't necessarily cause any noticeable problems for a while, it has plenty of opportunity to spread. All it takes to infect a hard drive is to start the computer with an infected disk in drive A:. From then on, any floppy disk which is accessed (to retrieve files, store files, or run programs) by that computer will be infected too, and can go on to infect other computers.

Typical symptoms of infection by the Stoned virus are missing files, files that can no longer be loaded successfully, or contain scrambled data, strange file names appearing in the directory, and (occasionally) the words "Your computer is stoned." appearing on your screen.

What can you do about this problem? You should check your disks, and any computers you use, regularly with a virus detection program, and if necessary use a virus removal program to cure infections. I recommend using a virus protection program on any computer with a hard drive. You can get programs which do these things and instructions for their use from the ICSC. And you should always have a backup copy of important files.

For further information, contact Stephen Fryer in the ICSC (local 556). And always remember:
