POEM FOR SEPTEMBER

We stand on the shore of summer
letting the lazy days
glide by with wine colored wings.
And suddenly, September,
you are here. You break
over us, a flurry of foam
that leaves us gasping,
exhilarated as on childhood beaches
when each wave was new.

What have you brought us? Young voices that call like seabirds seeking land. Like eucalyptus in wind, the rustle of green thoughts. A stirring in the bones of our hands to touch and shape, to connect
like the salt breeze
is connecting wave and shore.

Today as the fall light illumines
the kelp-dark tidal pools
and lichens weave their purple
through the dunes,
we remember once more why
we are what we are.
September, we breathe in your electric air
and begin again.

Library Service to Students who are Disabled

Students who are disabled sometimes require assistance beyond that which we routinely provide for our patrons. Examples would be assistance with photocopying, searching periodical indexes, handwriting citations and searching the UBC microfiche.

The Counselling Department will arrange for student peer assistants to help with these tasks. The correct procedure is to inform the students of this service and ask them to make arrangements through Mel Felker, the Special Needs Counsellor (871-7206) or Vicky Monroy, the Student Services Assistant for Disabled Students (871-7210). In some cases, students already have a peer assistant for purposes such as note-taking. These students should be informed that their peer assistants may be asked to help with library tasks and that Mel will arrange for payment.

Students who have questions regarding these procedures should be directed to Cathie

Perry, the Special Needs Library, or to Brenda Appleton, the Campus Librarian.

Instructors who have contact with these students could assist them and the library by informing them of this service.

Tour Bookings

This is the time of year when a heavy demand exists for tours and library instruction sessions. Please book well in advance. Tours may be booked in persona at the Library Information Desk or by phoning 7326.

GET WELL

Adeley Morley, Instructor in the Program for Visually Impaired Adults, and Claire (her guide dog), will not be seen on campus during September and possibly longer. Adele had a nasty fall down a flight of stairs early in July breaking her heel and her arm. She tells us that the cast is off her leg now and she will be undergoing physiotherapy with the hope of returning in October. Have a speedy recovery, Adele!

BIG PRIZE, BIG MONEY

It may not be a condo at Whistler, but the grand prize in the Educational Foundation's annual lottery is worth a whole bunch of money! The third Truck Lottery is in its final month for ticket sales, with the draw on October 16th. Winning the 1993 Freightliner semi could mean over $100,000 in your pocket if the idea of making a career move into the trucking industry doesn't interest you. Tickets are a hundred bucks each, but can be split between several parties. Just think, for a $10 investment with nine friends, you could all be $10,000 richer! And the odds for this lottery are among the best around - a maximum of 3,000 tickets will be sold. Proceeds benefit students at Vancouver Community College. For information on tickets call Michele Davidson, 871-7175.

NEW PROVINCIAL LITERACY COODINATOR:

The Ministry of Advanced Education, Training and Technology (MAETT) has named B.C.'s new Provincial Literacy Coordinator. Mary Waddington, Vancouver Community College (King Edward Campus)

Basic Education Department Head, takes over the one-year secondment position effective August 1, 1992. She succeeds Pat Hodgson, who will return to the Adult Basic Education Department at Capilano College

The role of the Provincial Literacy Coordinator is to coordinate the overall direction, development, delivery and evaluation of adult literacy programs and resources in B.C. The Coordinator also manages the funding of the $1.4 million 1992/1993 literacy projects cost-shared between the MAETT and the National Literacy Secretariat.

Waddington has taught in the literacy field since 1974. She began her career with the Prince George school district, where she taught grade 10 English and English as a second language ("or English for new Canadians, as it was known then," says Waddington) in the district's continuing education department.

She was VCC/KEC Basic Education Department Head from 1980 to 1987 and again from 1990 to 1992.

Waddington followed her BA with a Diploma in Adult Education from the University of British Columbia and is working towards a Masters degree in higher education. She has also been "actively involved" in the ABE articulation process (which sets course requirements and course content for different levels of certification within the college ABE system). She is co-author of the 1992 Review of Adult Basic Education Articulation in B.C.

Waddington says she has "had the opportunity to be involved in some community-based literacy projects, such as Vancouver's Mount Pleasant Neighbourhood House, through the KEC Basic Education Department." She is "looking forward to working with everyone in the field."
