LIBRARY NEWS

Services to Students Who are Disabled

The Counselling Department is once again sponsoring a special library service for students who are disabled. This popular service operates Monday to Thursday, 12:00 noon to 1:00 p.m. Corinne Leach, an upper-level Sign Language Studies student, will be on duty to assist with information searching, photocopying, closed-caption decoder use, etc. This service is available to all KEC students with disabilities. Instructors: Please inform your students of this service. We need your help in publicizing it.

ERIC CD-ROM Workshop

The library will offer a one-hour workshop on Friday, October 01 at 12:00 noon. Learn the finer points of search strategy, limiting and saving to disk. To register, call 7326. The workshop is limited to 6 participants. This workshop will be offered again this semester.

New Titles Notification

Instructors who have requested the Library to purchase a specific title will now receive a "screen dump" of the computer bibliographic record when the item has been received by the Library and is available for use. This will replace the present system of typed notice.

MENTAL FITNESS CORNER

Sorry for the "disappearance" of the Mental Fitness Corner for the last little while! I was mentally exhausted with many other commitments.

PUZZLE:

Find the names of the four trees hidden in the following sentence:

The bee chased Henry as he raced around the hotel main drive.

TRIVIA:

During an evening walk, a famous Greek mathematician (about 640 to 546 BC) became absorbed in the observation of the stars and consequently fell into a ditch. A woman accompanying him exclaimed, "How canst thou know what is doing in the heavens, when thou seest not what is at they feet?"

Can you name the Greek mathematician?

ANSWERS FROM THE PREVIOUS SUBMISSION:

PUZZLE:

Fantastic finds are commonly the result of years of scientific effort, combined with the experience of years.

There are eight Fs in the above sentence. However, most people will only count five the first time, because there is a tendency to miss the Fs in the word "of".

TRIVIA:

Who is the desert Fox? Erwin Rommel.

THE SYMBOL SAYS IT ALL

You have seen this symbol around - at health agencies, day care facilities, neighbourhood centres and, of course, on all United Way posters and publications. But did you know the symbol's very simple, yet universal, message?

At the bottom is a helping hand. The hand symbolizes the services and programs supported by the United Way that in turn support the people in our community.

The image in the centre, based on the universal symbol of mankind, is cradled by the helping hand.

It shows that all people are supported and uplifted by United Way efforts.

And a rainbow springs from the helping hand, representing the hope of a better life possible through the United Way. In these simple figures is the sum total of the United Way philosophy - to promote voluntarism and to support voluntary organizations in their efforts to provide a better life for us all.

SEE YOU THERE!

When calling the Program for Deaf and Hard of Hearing Adults, have you wondered which is the best way to phone us??

We have two separate phone lines and numbers: a voice only line and a TTY (also known as TDD) line. Often these numbers are confused, so we would like to explain which is which, and how to contact us.

The voice line is 871- 7342.

This number is for those wanting to speak with the Program Assistant (Janice Betty) or to leave a voice mail message for Leonor Vlug or the other instructors.

The TTY line is 871-7341.

This line is for those calling from a TTY (Teletext machine for the Deaf), or via the Message Relay Centre (MRC). If no one is available, a message can be left.

B.C. Tel Message Relay Centre - 681-2913

This is a communication link over the telephone between Deaf and hard of hearing TTY/TDD users and hearing people who call by voice. The MRC operator will type out what you speak onto a specialized computer which then connects to the TTY of the person you are calling.

When calling the MRC inform the operator of the number you are calling. If you are not familiar with the MRC, the operator will explain how to use this service.

COLLEGE STUDENTS IN INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

A STUDY AND INTERNATIONAL WORK EXPERIENCE

The Association of Canadian Community Colleges

ACCC is currently inviting proposal submissions for the College Students in International Development Program (CSIDP). The CSIDP aims to provide Canadian Youth in the community college system with opportunities to enhance their awareness and understanding of international development issues through mutually beneficial, partnership assignments in developing countries. It is open to students between the ages of 18 and 29 who have completed either two years of a three-year program or are in the final year of a two-year program.

What does this program mean for the student?

Through studies and an overseas work experience, participating students will develop a greater understanding of the dynamics of international cooperation and become advocates for international development within their own communities.

What does this program mean for the college or institute?

Students participating in this program will bring a greater development awareness and understanding to the institution, thereby assisting in the internationalization of college operations.

How will this program benefit the community?

These students will enter the workforce equipped with skills that will assist their employers in developing new international markets for Canadian products and services.

Who is eligible for this program?

Colleges or institutes that have an existing institutional linkage in a developing country designated as eligible by the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA).

What are the program funding expectations?
