MISSING!

Over the past few months, a number of personal effects and items have disappeared from various areas of the campus. These things have typically been small items. However, this past week, a box with 4 silk plants was removed from the auditorium, and 2 others were taken from the 4th Floor Administrative area.

If these have been "borrowed" for a function, etc. please contact Facilities Services so that we can advise the owners of their location.

LIBRARY NEWS

Congratulations Caroline!

All the best to Caroline Adderson in the ESL Outreach, who has been nominated for a Governor-General's Literary Award for her book Bad Imaginings. Look for her book in the Library soon.

New Videos

ESL audiences will love two new compilations from the NFB. Discuss It! (110 min. 1991) is a collection of 14 films (all but two are animated) and includes a 54-page teacher's guide. Greentalk (88 min. 1992) features 8 films on an environmental theme and also includes a guide.

Staying in a green vein, The Greenpeace Years (55 min. 1991), gives a comprehensive history of the organization and has lots of archival footage of their various campaigns.

This week's courier bag also brings lots of Canadian and American short story adaptations. All were produced in the mid-1980's and average about 25 min. each. All the Years is based on Morley Callaghan's All the Years of Her Life. Timothy Findley's War has been produced as Going to War. David Walker fans will enjoy A Good Tree, based on his A Good Tree That Christmas. Margaret Laurence is represented with The Olden Days Coat, as is Brian Moore with Uncle T'.

"Assisted" procreation and the human design of human beings is already a big topic, and soon to be big business. Making Babies and Making Perfect Babies (51 min. each 1992) give an in-depth description and critique of the new people-making technologies.

Stay tuned, more videos next week!

HAPPY DEEPAWALI....

Deepawali is the magnificent Hindu festival of lights, but is also a non-secular celebration for most people of Indian origin.

It is the celebration in October or November of the beginning of winter and this year it is on Saturday, November 13.

The word Deepawali literally means row of lamps and this occasion is marked by placing little oil lamps in the windows of homes, stores, and other gathering places. People start their preparations weeks ahead of time and temples are decorated with old religious scenes which are of great religious significance.

On the night of Deepawali, the Goddess Laxshmi, goddess of good fortune, wealth, and happiness is worshipped.

Lets share this holiday by displaying candles in our windows. You may also wish to visit the Indian stores on Main Street in Vancouver to see the decorations and special foods on display for this holiday.

LOST SOULS AND MISSING PERSONS

a bizarre comedy by Sally Clark

Directed by Robert Metcalfe
Costume Design by Kate King

Set Design by Ken MacDonald
Lighting Design by Adrian Muir

NOVEMBER 18 - DECEMBER 5

Studio 58's 28th season continues with LOST SOULS AND MISSING PERSONS by award-winning Canadian playwright Sally Clark. Directed by Robert Metcalfe this bizarre comedy opens on Saturday, November 20 and plays for 17 performances only.

LOST SOULS AND MISSING PERSONS is the story of Hannah, a nondescript woman in her forties, who, while on holiday with her husband in New York City, suddenly realizes she doesn't know who or where she is. This unpredictable comedy follows Hannah's encounters with a strange string of characters as she seeks her true identity. Full of black, biting humour LOST SOULS AND MISSING PERSONS is an imaginative and challenging work in its scope and style. A production not to be missed!

LOST SOULS AND MISSING PERSONS is Sally Clark's first play. Clark has received impressive accolades for her plays including a Chalmers Award and a Dora Award for Moo. Other plays include The Trial of Judith K. (which was short-listed for both a Chalmers and a Governor General's Award) Ten Ways to Abuse an Old Woman (which was adapted into a short film produced by the Canadian Film Centre in 1993), Jehanne of the Witches and Life Without Instruction. Her newest work, Saint Frances of Hollywood, a play about Frances Farmer, will be produced by the New Play Centre, Alberta Theatre Projects and the Belfry Theatre in 1994.

MORE...

Since graduating from Studio 58 in 1979, Robert Metcalfe has worked as an actor, director and fight choreographer for every major theatre company in Western Canada. A Vancouver resident, Metcalfe's recent work includes: directing the highly acclaimed Medea's Disgust by John Lazarus; working as an assistant director to John Cooper for Love and Anger and My Children, My Africa at the Vancouver Playhouse; and directing Arena Theatre's production of Relatively Speaking. He is also the Associate Director for Green Thumb Theatre. LOST SOULS AND MISSING PERSONS represents his directorial debut for Studio 58.

Ken MacDonald joins the production team as set and poster designer for LOST SOULS AND MISSING PERSONS. His distinctive work has garnered many awards including a 1993 Jessie Award for his work last season and a Dora Award for 7 Stories, written by Morris Panych. Most recently he designed Life Science for Green Thumb Theatre. Later this season he will design the set and costumes for Anatol for the Belfry in Victoria; White Biting Dog for Tarragon Theatre in Toronto and The Struggle of the Dogs and The Black for the Vancouver Playhouse.

Kate King is one of Vancouver's busiest designers. Her most recent credits include: costumes for Cat On a Hot Tin Roof, the Arts Club Theatre; set and costumes for Criminals in Love, Green Thumb Theatre; set and costumes for Dancing At Lughnasa, Sunshine Theatre; costumes for The Kat Who Would Be Kool, Studio 58 and costumes for Springrites! 93, the New Play Centre. Her upcoming projects include designing costumes for The Tempest at the New Bastion Theatre in Victoria.

This is Adrian Muir's third show for Studio 58 having previously designed lighting for Mad Forest and Scenes From A Courtroom. His most recent design credits include The Miracle Worker for Richmond Gateway Theatre, Much Ado About Nothing for the Vancouver Playhouse and Dancing At Lughnasa for Sunshine Theatre. Before returning to the West, Mr. Muir spent much of the last decade in Toronto collaborating with a host of independent dance and theatre companies. Muir also worked as assistant lighting designer for the national touring production of Phantom of the Opera.
