DIANE THOMPSON

I am very sad to inform you that Diane Thompson, a College Foundations English instructor, passed away on Sunday evening in St. John, New Brunswick. After earning a First Class Honours degree in English and taking teacher training at the University of New Brunswick, Diane taught English in New Brunswick, in Trinidad, in Ontario and in Tanzania.

After completing her M.A. in English Education at U.B.C. in 1973 she joined us to teach Canadian Viewpoints, English Literature and Writing Skills. From July 1978 until early this summer, Diane was Department Head of the English Department. Although Diane was the department head, her first love and concern was for her students, both within and without the classroom. As a consequence Diane's students always spoke well of her, particularly in her approach to each one, particularly as far as individual needs were concerned. She was respected and revered by her colleagues and administrators alike. One "memorial" to Diane which will persist for a long time to come is the book "Canadian Viewpoints" which arrived, ironically, on my desk today. It is the brainchild of Diane, who directed its preparation through the auspices of a Ministry of Education, Continuing Education Special Project.

Diane was a devoted member of the King Edward community and as such she will be missed by friends, by colleagues and by students.

Before returning to New Brunswick, Diane requested that, when the time came, flowers not be sent to New Brunswick. Instead contributions to be used for a Diane Thompson Memorial Award Fund. Information on this is given on next page.

A memorial service will be held at St. Mary's Anglican Church, 2490 West 37th (4 blocks west of Arbutus) at 5:00 p.m., today Thursday, October 13.

SCHOLARSHIP TO HONOUR DIANE THOMPSON

Diane Thompson taught at King Edward Campus from September of 1974 until June of 1983, at which time illness forced her to go on sick leave. She was Department Head of English from May, 1979 to August, 1982. Diane was interested in her students and loved the courses she taught: English Literature, English 041, and Canadian Viewpoints.

To honour Diane, and as a lasting memorial to her, a scholarship will be set up in her name. The scholarship will be for one or all of the courses she taught here. Donations may be sent to Betty Pletcher, Elizabeth MacLeod, Keith Oberding, or Gordon Pawelchak. (Cheques to be made out to "The Diane Thompson Memorial Award Fund".) Donations are Income Tax deductible.

COPYRIGHT: PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICES

Editorial Note: The following guidelines are reproduced from a memo [dated 1983 09 22] from J.J. Denholm to all Langara Faculty and Staff.

The following statement was endorsed by the Academic Council in the fall of 1981. Since endorsement it has been issued twice for your informaton. Herewith the third, verbatim issue, since the advice of what follows has every appearance of being as valid now as it was two years ago.

COPYRIGHT

For fifteen years now (at least!) the copying industry and publishers have been at odds - with people like ourselves caught in the middle. In the United States an accomodation and ultimate resolution seems to be on the way. The state of American law is often taken to be the state of Canadian law. To so assume is a mistake. New Canadian law is in preparation, but it is not in place and will not be in place for at least a year - or more! From time to time, therefore, we all need a reminder. The best ". . . reminder . . ." I have seen in many years, our Library came across and passed it along. It is out of an Algonquin College publication (Com-o-Lib Newsletter, Fall, 1980, pp. 108 to 111. Permission to copy obtained August 26, 1981).

DEFINITION OF COPYRIGHT

Copyright - the right to copy - means that an author is the only person who may copy his "work", or permit someone to do so. Copying includes publishing, producing, reproducing and translating. Copyright applies to all works including books, articles, photographs, films, records, tapes, slides, etc.

Single Copies

The Canadian Copyright Act (R.S., C55, s.1) permits quoting from or reproducing excerpts of a copyrighted work for the purposes of private study, research, criticism, review or newspaper summary. This is known in the law as "fair dealing". Complete periodical articles, entire poems and short stories can be reproduced in single copies for academic use. As a rough rule of thumb, if you need more than 1/5 of the work, you should be buying the original work.

(Note: "1/5" has no firm basis in law, but appears to be a guideline within the law).

Multiple Copies

Generally, the 1/5 rule applies to multiple copies as well. If you need more than 1/5 of a book (or ten poems in an anthology or two articles in a collection of articles), you should not be . . . (reproducing) you should be buying the original work . . .

Depending on the publisher or producer, obtaining permission to duplicate copyrighted material can take up to three months . . .

Newspapers - unlimited duplication allowed without permission as long as source is acknowledged.

Periodical articles - permission must be granted by the copyright holder for multiple copies of each article or portion thereof. (In or near their masthead, many periodicals print a waiver of copyright).

Anthologies of short stories, poems, collections of articles - permission must be granted by the copyright holder for each story, poem or article or portion thereof.

Books - permission must be granted by the copyright holder for any part.

Non-print media (e.g. records, films, tapes, slides, etc.) - permission must be granted by the copyright holder for any part.

ALTERNATIVES TO CONSIDER

If the copyright holder will not grant permission to duplicate, you have the option of ordering multiple copies of the work through the Bookstore to be sold to your students. Another possibility is to request that several copies be placed in the reserve collection . . . Limited loan periods or an "in-Library-use-only" designation can sometimes meet heavy demands for a learning resource over a short period.

* * *

The exercise of caution and discretion is the key. If in doubt, don't copy! Currently, the Quebec colleges are scrambling to defend themselves in a massive "class action" against all of them over the reproduction of audio and video tapes.

A STORY ABOUT FOUR PEOPLE

This is a story about four people named Everybody, Somebody, Anybody and Nobody.

There was an important job to be done and Everybody was sure that Somebody would do it. Anybody could have done it but Nobody did it.

Somebody got angry about that because it was Everybody's job.

Everybody thought Anybody could do it but Nobody realized that Everybody wouldn't do it.

It ended up that Everybody blamed Somebody when actually Nobody accused Anybody.
