Here is Ambre Hamilton, one of our C.E. instructors, who designed the prize winning poster, and our principal, Hans Rerup, who presented Ambre with a certificate for a Dinner for Two at J.J.'s restaurant. Congratulations Ambre!

National Health Safety Week
"SAFETY FIRST"

Health and Safety Week
GO FOR IT!
Get Your Body in Motion . .

OZONE ?THE NEXT BURNING ISSUE

And here is Nilda Panganiban of the Word Processing Centre who won first prize and received a Braun juicer!

Second prize, a Halogen flashlight went to Caleb Chang of Printing Production, and third prize, a Black Forest Cake, went to C.E. students, Allen, Leah, and Brenda.

Next were the BEST HEALTH posters.

Les Steinke of the Nursing Department took first place and received a Brass Clock in recognition.

Second place honors went to Kelly Huebner, a C.E. student, and Kelly received a Make-up Brush kit.

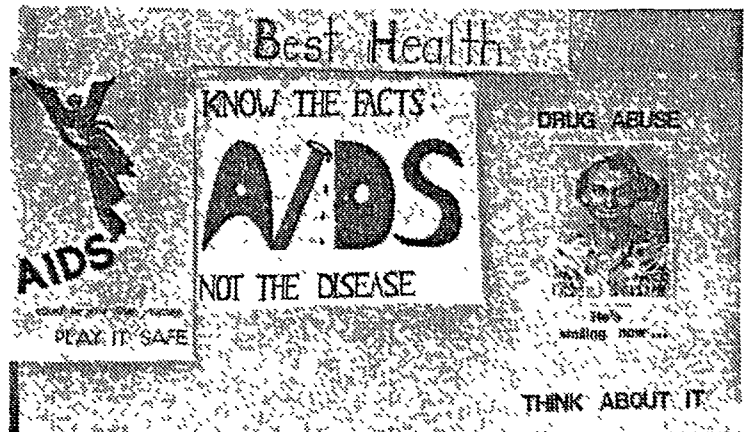

And third place went to Rick Fletcher and Dave Smith of the Power Engineering Department who got to slice up a Black Forest Cake as their third place prize.

The posters from left to right (with first place on the left) read:

AIDS could be your final journey
PLAY IT SAFE

Know the Facts:
AIDS
Not the Disease

DRUG ABUSE
He's Smiling Now . . .
THINK ABOUT IT

BEST SAFETY posters won with the slogans:
